Seed Saving with Kelly Caisse

Wednesday, October 5th

1:00 pm

Join Chaplin farmer Kelly Caisse of KDCROP FARMS to learn how to store and save seeds for next year. Kelly will share tips on how to successfully harvest seeds to be used for future plantings.

Established in 2006, KDCROP FARMS is a vegetable, herb, fruit, starter plant, and egg farm in Chaplin, CT. The farm is family run and women-owned, led by Kelly Caisse. They use organic, non-chemical, no-till techniques to grow their produce, reduce carbon footprint by mostly using hand tools, and keep the soil happy! KDCROP FARMS also produces a line of value-added relishes, pickles, jams, and salsas that are farm-raised, handmade, and naturally grown for the garden fresh, farm-to-table experience. They run a weekly CSA (community supported agriculture) in which customers receive a 6-item box of mixed vegetables, fruit, jars, eggs, and cheese from Cato Corner Farm at a pick-up point on the farm. From the profits of the CSA, a portion is donated to the Chaplin Elementary School PTO and other schools. They also go to farmers markets such as Ashford, Storrs, Tolland, and Ellington. You can also find them at local events in Chaplin and Windham County! Learn more at kdcropfarms.weebly.com is looking for volunteers.

The Connecticut Land Conservation Council

Please contact Lisa at 860-455-1327 if you are interested.

Hello Everyone!

My name is Emely Ricci, I am the Sandy Breslin Conservation Fellow at Connecticut Land Conservation Council (CLCC). On behalf of CLCC and our project partners, The Last Green Valley (TLGV), and Joshua's Trust, I'm writing to invite you to participate in a groundbreaking and exciting new project focused on inclusive conservation in Northeastern Connecticut. We are seeking volunteers from the Chaplin Senior Center and the Chaplin senior community at large to conduct an assessment of a sampling of Joshua's Trust properties with the goal of better-incorporating accessibility and inclusivity into their trail and program design.

These outings will be organized sometime in the Fall/early Winter with representatives from CLCC and TLGV guiding participants through the trail to complete the assessment. Joshua's Trust will not be in attendance during these trips as we want to gather your genuine thoughts and ideas as we hike through the intended property.

We hope you will participate and enjoy the day with us when the time comes!

Best,
Emely
